

Animals of the Indian Canyons

Chuckwalla: čaxwal in Cahuilla

Chuckwallas eat wildflowers, fruits and leaves. They live in rocks and boulder piles. They are skittish and will hide if they sense danger by wedging itself into the nearest hole or crack and expanding its body, so it cannot be removed from the area. They also like to sunbathe on rocks.

indian-canyons.com

čaxwal

